

Parolee still at standoff with police

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sheriff's deputies have refused pleas from a recent San Quentin parolee to provide food for him and his hostage wife.

Lafayette Pruitt, 35, has been barricaded in the upstairs portion of his two-bedroom Willowbrook area home for more than a day and a half, fending off attempts by officers, including a SWAT team, to either capture him or talk him into surrendering.

Pruitt, reportedly armed with a pistol, is holding his wife Marcella hostage, although he freed his four children several hours after the siege began at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

"You have to take each barricaded situation on its own merits, and in this case we felt it would be better not to give him the food," a sheriff's deputy said, indicating that officers hoped their refusal would wear down Pruitt.

Pruitt did allow two members of the sheriff's "hostage team" into the apartment to negotiate for Mrs. Pruitt's release Wednesday, but they met with little success.

Sheriff's spokesman Anthony Silas said Wednesday the negotiators heard Pruitt apologizing to his wife in a locked room inside the apartment.

"Maybe they're using this time to kiss and make up under the noses of deputies," Silas said.

Nearly 20 deputies continued to surround the large apartment complex today but took no action other than to talk to the man.

"So far he apparently hasn't done anything that we could charge him for," Silas said. "Of course that will be up to the district attorney's office to decide."

He said a sheriff's department psychologist had tried to talk to Pruitt earlier but Pruitt hadn't responded to him.

Marksmen kill former mental patient holding seven hostages

HAYSVILLE, Kan. (AP) — Undersheriff Sam Davidson said it was "the choice of one life or eight" that made him order sharpshooters to kill a former mental patient who threatened seven hostages with death in a home in this Wichita suburb.

Larry Leer, 30, was killed Wednesday night by two shots in the chest eight hours after he took Bonnie Horinek and her four children captive and held them with a pistol, rifle and six other weapons he gathered in their home. As the drama progressed, the Horineks were released and he took seven other hostages.

Leer's initial demand was to see his former girlfriend, Lonnie Beam, Mrs. Horinek's sister. But after she arrived, the demands grew to include cigarettes, protection upon surrender, protection from bankruptcy, and commitment at a mental hospital of his choice.

As police and sheriff's deputies gathered outside the dwelling, Leer told his hostages: "They (the officers) have signed our death warrants."

Two hours before the shooting, an Associated Press reporter telephoned Leer, who identified himself by saying, "You're talking to the man holding the gun."

He told the reporter he refused to end his life in a gutter somewhere, adding: "A man has to have something to live for and without the things that he lives for he must die. These things I must live for or I must die."

Before Leer could elaborate, his attorney, Warner Eisenbise of Wichita, who was one of the hostages, cut into the conversation.

Another hostage, Sedgwick County Sheriff Johnnie Darr, said, "When I went into the house, all the people were in control. They were very calm and very cool."

"If any one of them had made a bad move while Mrs. Horinek and her four kids were there, I'm afraid we'd have all been shot."

Carter's mother to go home soon

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP) — Lillian Carter, mother of President-elect Carter, may be released from the Americus-Sumter County Hospital in a few days, hospital officials say.

Assistant Administrator Jim Cannon said Wednesday that Mrs. Carter, 78, hospitalized with an arthritis flareup last week, is "doing real well" and can probably go home this week.

Employee's actions foil Pomona supermarket robbery

By JACK BURSON
PB Staff Writer

An employee at the Stater Bros. Market at 2277 N. Garey Ave. spoiled a robbery attempt early Wednesday afternoon by dodging among displays at the store and shouting a warning to shoppers, Pomona police reported.

The action of the employee, Douglas D. Lightfoot, 25, caused the would-be robber to run from the store and to a car parked outside. He was last seen speeding away eastbound in Arrow Highway.

Lightfoot told police he was stocking shelves when the man approached holding a Stater Bros. job application. He asked Lightfoot a question about the form, but then brushed back a vest he wore and displayed a pistol stuck in his belt. He demanded money.

When he removed the weapon and put the muzzle to Lightfoot's chest, Lightfoot brushed it aside and dodged behind a display in the aisle. When he began shouting the gunman filed.

He was described as black, 5 feet 9 with a medium to stocky build.

He had a goatee and wore a brown suit, a vest and a tie. He was armed with a large-frame, blue-steel revolver.

Rain which arrived in the valley early this morning caught Shirley Hendricks unprepared as she arrived for work at Kizziar Cleaners in Pomona. Puddles had formed by 8 a.m.

Recruits rush to beat deadline for GI Bill

LOS ANGELES (AP) — About 500

young men, many scrambling for a last chance at a free college education, have been showing up each day this week at the Armed Forces entrance and examination center as time runs out on the GI Bill.

"We're doing a booming business," said Army Capt. Peter Verga.

Officers say the numbers contrast sharply with the 70 to 100 men who signed up each day this time last year.

Of the 500 a day, 100 to 200 are pledging themselves to the Army, the rest to the Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps, Verga said.

On Friday night, the Vietnam era GI Bill, which gives servicemen full government-paid education at the end of their tours, will lapse.

Men who join up after Jan. 1 will get partial benefits and pay for part of their educations themselves.

Officers said another enticement is the Armed Forces delayed entry program under which recruits sworn in before the New Year will get full benefits even though they do not actually step into uniform until the end of 1977.

"They can go on and finish high school and know they are going to get a job," an officer at the center said.

He walks into bar, drinks, eats, then blows himself up

MONTRÉAL (AP) — A man walked into a Montreal bar, sat down, consumed a beer and two hot dogs, then blew himself up, police said.

Witnesses said the man pulled a small battery out of his pocket and connected it to two wires leading from his shirt, triggering explosives attached to the left side of his body.

The 49-year-old man, whose name was not released, was pronounced dead on arrival at a local hospital after the blast.

A waiter said the man, who had been a regular customer for about three months, gave no warning of his intention.

Weather

Light to moderate rain through Friday, turning to intermittent showers Saturday. Considerably colder temperatures. High today 56, low tonight 38, high Friday 55. The high Wednesday was 63 and the overnight low was 43. Friday's sunrise 6:56, sunset 4:52.

Brunt expected Friday

Rain arrives, but could mar Rose parade

By BOB NAGEY

PB Staff Writer

The first measurable rain of the winter moistened the valley today somewhat ahead of schedule, dropping daytime temperatures into the low 60s.

Only a trace of rain fell on the valley by 8:30 this morning, but the weatherman said the precipitation probably will continue through Saturday morning.

The forecast brought mixed feelings. Persons interested in the Rose Parade in Pasadena on New Year's Day were disappointed, but elation was expressed by skiing enthusiasts.

The National Weather Service predicted about 10 inches of snow in the Mt. Baldy winter playground this weekend. By 10 a.m. today nearly a half inch of snow was reported at the Mt. Baldy Ski Lodge, the first snowfall of the year.

The rain was light today, moving here from the northwest and spending itself over the desert, and the weatherman said it will stop for short periods from time to time. The brunt of the storm is expected to hit the valley Friday. Intermittent showers are expected to continue into Saturday, clearing Saturday night.

The rainstorm is bringing a cold spell into the Southland. The forecast is for readings in the mid 50s during the days and in the mid 30s at night during Friday and Saturday.

The high temperature Wednesday was 63 and the overnight low was 43.

Sadat sees Arab-Israeli peace settlement soon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat says the Arab-Israeli conflict will be settled soon "whether Israel likes it or not," a Beirut newspaper reported today.

Sadat also said in an interview that he regrets U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's departure from government but looks forward to dealing with Jimmy Carter because the President-elect is a religious man and likely to act on moral grounds, the newspaper Al Anwar said.

Carter commented on his financial holdings and on a conflict-of-interest code Wednesday shortly before he returned to his home here after holding preinaugural cabinet meetings.

Aides said the code of ethics for all those Carter names to high positions would be made public late today or Friday.

For three days, the President-elect held marathon meetings with his prospective cabinet members and other key advisers on St. Simons Island, a secluded resort off the Georgia coast.

The economy and the direction the new administration will take after the Jan. 20 inauguration were high on the agenda.

Carter told a Dec. 20 news conference he already had approved of the code of ethics and that Press Secretary Jody Powell would make it available for publication. For reasons never fully explained, release of the document was delayed.

Carter said Wednesday that all his appointees to date have agreed to meet the terms of the code, and he said:

"It will require the complete divestiture of any financial relationships that might create a conflict of interest, and a complete revelation of all other economic holdings, including net worth statements."

And the President-elect added, "I'll conform with the same restrictions I've placed on the cabinet members."

Carter reported during his campaign that his net worth at the end of 1975 was $811,982.09.

will be a reality whether Israel likes it or not."

He lamented as "a big loss" the departure of Kissinger, but he added, "I am told (Secretary of State-designate Cyrus) Vance also is a man of excellent caliber."

Sadat praised Carter as "an honest man with whom I am perfectly willing to cooperate."

"Truly, I am deeply satisfied because Carter is religious and is likely to base his calculations and decisions on moral grounds. I am not afraid of him. On the contrary, I welcome him, and this is an inseparable part of my calculations."

S. Korea lifts ban on 'riceless' days

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea's twice-weekly "no rice" day program is being discontinued Jan. 1 because of a bumper rice crop, Agriculture Minister Choi Kak-kyoo said today.

South Korea first introduced the "no rice" days in 1969, when rice production fell far short of national demand. It banned all restaurants from serving rice on Wednesdays and Saturdays and ordered them to mix at least 30 per cent barley with the rice on other days.

The government has enforced the program strictly. Many restaurants had their licences suspended or canceled after being caught serving rice on "no rice" days or failing to mix barley with the rice.

School authorities frequently inspected lunchboxes of students and violators were reprimanded.

Experts see no need to resume it

End of swine flu shot program?

ATLANTA (AP) — With the nation's swine flu inoculation program suspended for at least another few weeks, some experts are predicting that there will be no need to resume it at all this winter.

The federal Center for Disease Control ordered Wednesday that the moratorium begin Dec. 16 be extended until the strange paralytic disease called Guillain-Barre Syndrome can be studied more closely to determine whether it is linked to the vaccinations.

Several experts who met at the CDC here said the program probably would be reinstated only if signs of a flu epidemic appeared. They said there appears to be no threat of widespread swine flu or A-Victoria flu, last winter's major influenza.

"There is very little influenza anywhere in the world at the moment," said Dr. David J. Sencer, director of the CDC. "We hope that it stays that way."

After the CDC announcement, Maryland's health secretary said in Baltimore that his state had "permanently discontinued" its swine flu vaccination program. Dr. Neil Solomon said he made the decision since inoculations began, 19 persons have died from Guillain-Barre. Of those, 11 had been inoculated against swine flu. In all, 408 people have suffered from Guillain-Barre since Oct. 1, including 242 who had received swine flu vaccinations, four who had received shots for Hong Kong flu, 234 who had not been immunized and 16 whose vaccination history was unknown.

Dr. Lawrence Schonberger of the CDC said that about 90 per cent of those who contract Guillain-Barre recover completely, about 5 per cent retain some degree of paralysis, and about 5 per cent die.

Five Michigan football players visit Casa Colina

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

"Go Blue" was the cry at Casa Colina Hospital in Pomona this week as five University of Michigan football team members engaged in a robust volleyball game with patients.

The team members, including three All-Americans, exchanged kidding with the hospital's patients and staff members.

To the query from one young patient, "Can you really play football?" a player answered, "Some people would question it."

The visit to the hospital was the result of combined action by Debbie Renfrew, recreation therapist at the hospital, and her father, Al Renfrew, athletic ticket manager for the University of Michigan.

When Miss Renfrew heard that the team was coming to the Rose Bowl, she decorated the recreation department with university banners and supplied the women staff members with blue and gold athletic shirts.

The players visiting the hospital were Rob Lytle, All-American fullback; Kirk Lewis, All-American offensive guard; Greg "Moe" Morton, All-American defensive tackle; Big O'Neal, linebacker and Ten selection; and Bob Wood, punter — kicker.

The team members were driven to Pomona by Al Renfrew.

Many of the hospital patients will attend the Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena Saturday morning. But, according to a hospital spokesman, the Rose Bowl is not designed to accommodate the wheelchairs of patients.

If it were, some of the patients would see the team members in action.

Only this time, they'd be playing football instead of volleyball.

Nine counts handed down by the jury

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vaughn Orrin Greenwood has been found guilty of the "Skid Row Slasher" murders that terrorized Los Angeles transients two years ago.

After six days of deliberations, a Los Angeles Superior Court jury Wednesday found the 33-year-old drifter guilty of nine counts of murder.

Greenwood faces life imprisonment when he is sentenced Jan. 19. Originally, prosecutors had indicated they wanted the death penalty but California's capital punishment law was declared unconstitutional while the trial was under way.

Greenwood was convicted of eight of the nine grisly killings attributed to the "Slasher." He was also convicted of a 1964 murder and one count of assault with intent to commit murder.

The jury failed to reach a verdict on two other murder counts, and Superior Court Clerk Steve Brown said a mistrial would be declared in those cases.

Greenwood was indicted for 11 murders, including two in 1964 and the nine "Slasher" killings between Dec. 1, 1974 and Jan. 31, 1975. All 11 victims had their throats slashed from ear to ear down to the spine.

There were ritualistic overtones to the killings. Investigators said they found evidence that the killer drank the blood of at least two victims and that he removed their shoes and placed them in a pattern around the body. Salt was sprinkled around the bodies, forming a gruesome mosaic, authorities said.

Most of the deaths centered in the downtown Skid Row area, with transients the victims, although the last two occurred in Hollywood.

Greenwood is already serving a 32-year-to-life sentence stemming from a robbery at the home of actor Burt Reynolds and a hatchet attack on two men in house in the Hollywood Hills. He has been in custody since he was arrested Feb. 3, 1975, in those cases.

Prosecutors based their case on similarities among the killings and the testimony of a witness who said he saw Greenwood outside a hotel room where a "Slasher" victim was found.

In addition, police said a bloody shoehorn in a victim's apartment was made by a shoe found in Greenwood's apartment.

Dep. Public Defender Charles Gessler, defending Greenwood, claimed the evidence in most of the cases was circumstantial. He unsuccessfully sought to have 10 of the 11 charges dismissed, challenging all but the sixth attack, which involved the shoehorn.

Judge Earl Broady rejected Gessler's motion, saying similarities in time, place and method warranted proceeding with all the charges.

New Year's Eve service slated

St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Pomona will have a New Year's Eve worship service Friday at 7 p.m. Holy Communion will be celebrated.

The Rev. Thomas Hendry will preach on "The Name of Jesus." The congregation will follow a specially printed order of worship, including a confession of sins, the assurance of pardon, and the greeting of peace.

Younger asks Supreme Court L.A. County forced to share APCD costs?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger today will ask the state Supreme Court to force Los Angeles County to share the costs of a new state-mandated regional air pollution control district.

The suit is being brought by Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger as the result of a vote by Los Angeles County supervisors to withhold more than $2.3 million for the smog district, which is to begin operations Feb. 1.

The district is to set regional air quality policies for Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

However, Los Angeles County supervisors complained that although they would be providing 70 per cent of the new agency's funds, they would have only two of the 10 votes on its board.

Los Angeles supervisors now have four of the eight votes on the regional smog board. They contended that since the state had changed the makeup of the board, the state could fund the agency.

Refusal by Los Angeles County to contribute the funds also may cause the federal Environmental Protection Agency to withhold $1.2 million a year earmarked for the regional smog board. The federal government can cut off funds to regional agencies if local spending drops below the previous year's level.

In addition, Orange County supervisors have followed Los Angeles' lead and voted to withhold $550,000 for their share of the agency's costs.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Marc B. Mihaly said the suit is being filed with the state Supreme Court, instead of in a lower court, because of the urgency of the issue.

Mihaly said that if the court decides to hear the case, a preliminary order could be issued by mid-January.

Public going ape over 'King Kong'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "King Kong" is roaring around the world but whether the 40-foot ape can take a bite out of "Jaws" remains to be seen.

In 1,500 theaters worldwide the movie to date has grossed more than $26 million in 10 days or less, said Gordon Armstrong, a spokesman for Italian producer Dino De Laurentiis. It opened in 2,200 theaters on or immediately after Dec. 17, but all have not reported.

"It's going extremely well," said De Laurentiis. "We'll know by Jan. 15 if we can top the goal we've set for ourselves."

That goal is to top the $192 million taken in by "Jaws," the top money-making film of all time. At present "King Kong" is running behind the early take of "Jaws" in the United States.

De Laurentiis' remake of the 1932 film classic was considered a gamble. Early in production he had difficulty with the 40-foot mechanical monster and some people thought he had a disaster on his hands. But the problems were ironed out and the film opened to generally favorable reviews.

Kong, an intriguing blend of innocence and terror, is the star of the film. Supporting him are Jeff Bridges, Jessica Lange and Charles Grodin.

Early comparisons with "Jaws" are difficult because "King Kong" opened worldwide, while Universal's "Jaws" did not open overseas until some time after its June 20, 1975, American premiere. Universal spokesmen said they have not separated foreign from domestic box office figures for "Jaws".

Abortion policy dropped

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California officials have scrapped their policy that the state would not pay

One killed in gun battle, chase

Three others hurt in Beverly Hills incident

BEVERLY HILLS (AP) — One man has been killed and three others have been wounded in a running gun battle through Beverly Hills and West Los Angeles after an abortive robbery.

Beverly Hills Police Capt. Joe Paez said the incident began Wednesday afternoon when an armed couple walked into the Beverly Hills Mail & Answering Service and demanded money.

During the holdup, Paez said, a customer walked into the store and the male robber whirled and opened fire with a submachine gun, killing the customer, Frankie Sedillo, 34, of Canoga Park.

The robbers then fled, and police began a high-speed, bullet-punctuated chase that lasted nearly half an hour and wound through business and residential areas of the two cities.

The chase shifted to foot after the

Square dance club holds ball

The Steeltown Twirlers square dance club will hold a New Year's Eve ball Friday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Kaiser Steel gym in Fontana.

Larry McBee and Jim Johnston will call. There will be favors, hats, balloons, noise makers and a buffet supper.

Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Dick Shore of Pomona is president of the organization.

Home destroyed

A fire early today destroyed the caretaker's home on the Andrew J. Crevelin ranch, 1103 S. Valley Center, San Dimas.

Seven county fire units responded to the 5:54 a.m. alarm which destroyed the approximately 1,500-square-foot home.

County fire officials estimated the loss at $26,000.

The driver of the vehicle, John A. Pasquale, 22, also of the Illinois Street address, told California Highway Patrol officers he fell asleep at the wheel while the car was in the northbound lane of the highway. The car drifted across a rumble strip and the shoulder, striking a guard rail where the door was torn off and Branch was ejected.

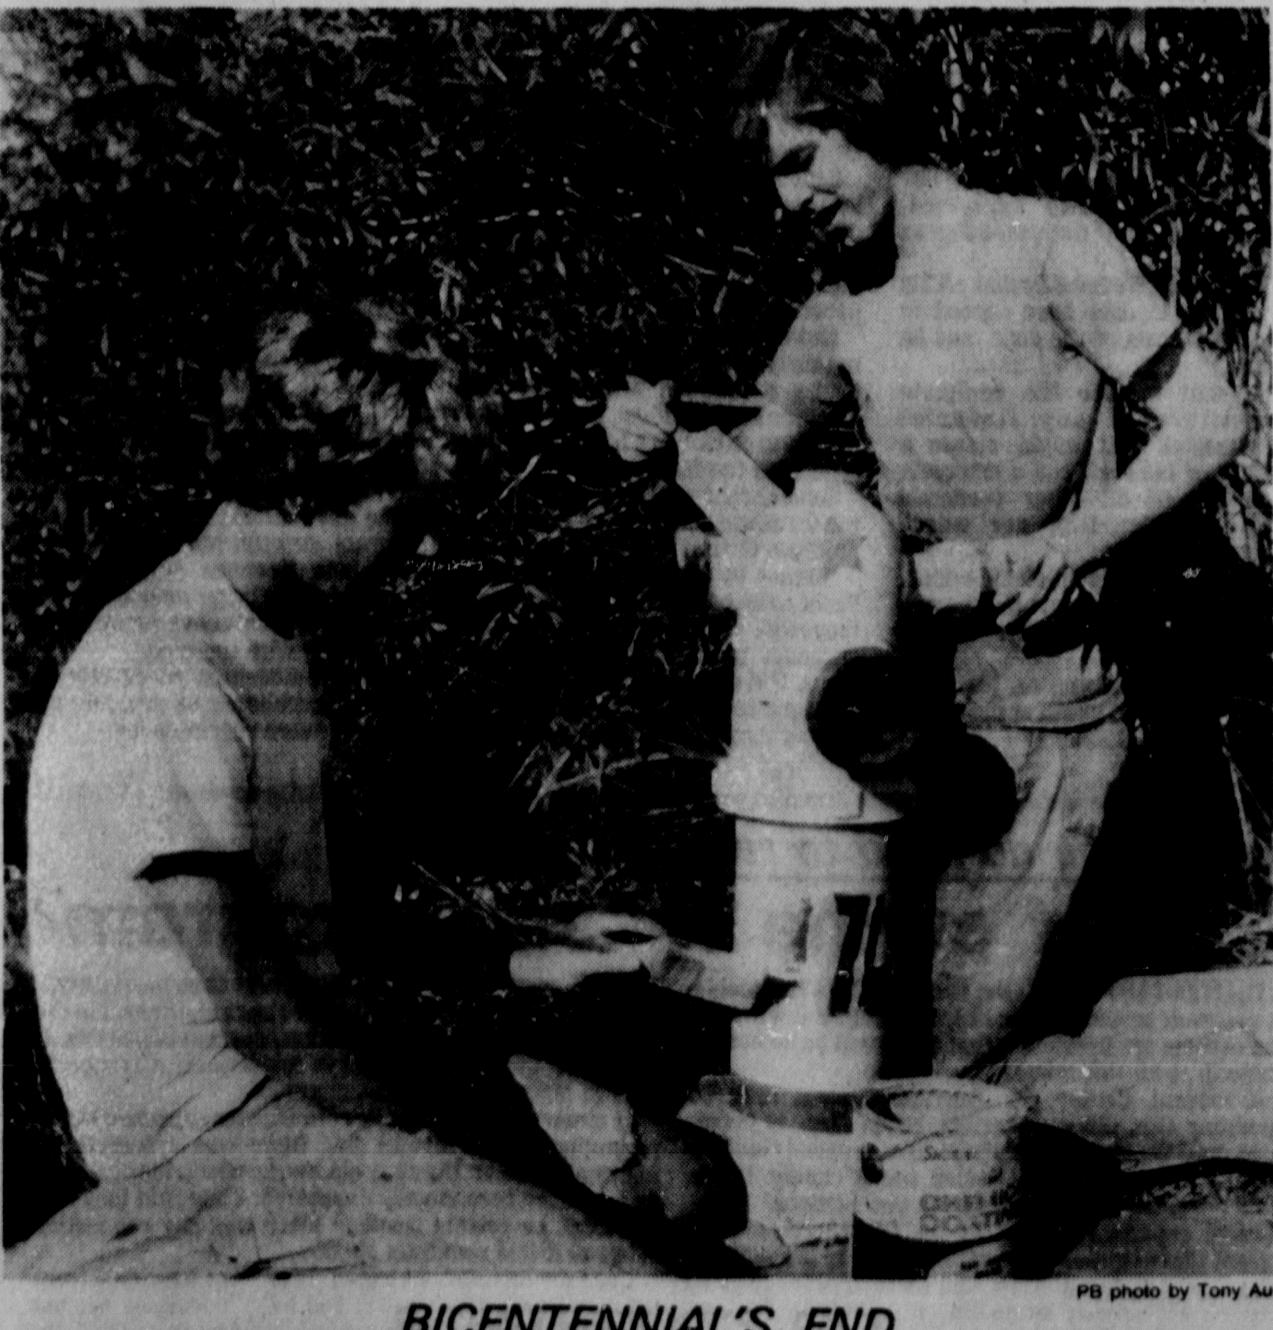

Officers said the vehicle then swerved back into the traffic lane and came to rest on its wheels about 50 feet south of the Cima Street overcrossing on Interstate 15.

Pasquale and another passenger, Thomas Phillips, 22, 167 Farnam St., Pomona, were both treated for abrasions and contusions.

Parole figures

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Seven percent of the adults arrested for robbery during the first three months of 1976 were felons on parole, the state Department of Corrections said Tuesday.

The Associated Press reported Monday that 25 per cent of those arrested on such cases were paroled felons.

BICENTENNIAL'S END

Marc Cobb and Dan McCarter were among 14 members of the Montclair High School Key Club who repainted fire hydrants throughout Montclair to their original yellow. The Key Club boys painted more than 100 hydrants as the city closed out the Bicentennial year of 1976. The hydrants were brightly adorned in red, white and blue with varying designs for the celebration of the nation's 200th birthday. Mike Loehr, community development director for the City of Montclair and as a member of the Montclair Kiwanis Club adviser to the high school auxiliary, coordinated the painting teams this week.

Chinese put down rebel uprising

LONDON (AP) — A Chinese radio broadcast says the army has put an end to "great chaos" in the city of Baoding, about 100 miles southwest of Peking, the Daily Telegraph reported today from the Chinese capital.

The Hopeh provincial radio report did not say when or why the disturbances erupted in the provincial capital, the newspaper said.

An Australian paper reported today that troops had been sent to Baoding to suppress an outbreak of bombings and armed raids by supporters of the purged widow of Mao Tse-tung.

The Telegraph's Peking correspondent, Nigel Wade, noted that foreign travelers had reported as early as last spring that radical opponents of the Hopeh provincial leadership in Baoding had broken into an armory, blown up factories and committed murder, rape and robbery.

The provincial radio said it took a "concerted effort" by government troops to restore order in Baoding after a long period of "confusion," Wade wrote.

The Baoding disclosures were the latest in a series of reports of disturbances directed against the regime of Chairman Hua Kuo-feng and said to have been fomented by radical followers of Mao's widow, Chiang Ching, and her associates in the "Gang of Four."

The disorders are believed to have been most widespread in late summer and fall.

The Sydney Morning Herald's Yvonne Preston wrote in a dispatch from Peking today, "Reports reaching Peking say that armed groups supporting the ousted 'Gang of Four' and opposing Hua robbed banks, raided ammunition factories, grain stores and shops, hijacked military vehicles and blew up factories in the city."

The reports said the rebels sabotaged communications and rail lines, raped women and hid caches of arms and ammunition, she wrote.

The army was ordered to shut down "gang" bases in Baoding, the capital of Peking's surrounding Hopeh Province, the report said. It said the government ordered the rebels to disband and hand over their weapons and ammunition or face "severe punishment."

The Morning Herald's story said the People's Daily, the Chinese Communist party newspaper, was among the sources for the reports. But the newspaper was not specific, "referring only to a handful of class enemies engaging in beating, smashing and looting and disrupting the supply of relief going to the earthquake-shattered city of Tangshan," the Australian paper's reporter wrote. The quake in July reportedly caused tens of thousands of casualties and destroyed Tangshan, in northeast China.

Baoding, also known in the West as Paotong, is an important railway and textile center. The Morning Herald's report said the troubles there posed a security threat to Peking, but it did not elaborate.

The story said 12 of China's 29 provinces have experienced similar outbreaks of anti-Hua violence in recent months.

Chiang Ching and her three radical colleagues — Chang Chun-chiao, Wang Hung-wen and Yao Wen-yuan, all members of the Communist party's Politburo — were arrested Oct. 7, a month after Mao died. They have been accused of plotting a coup to prevent Hua from succeeding Mao.

The radicals consider themselves ideological purists and oppose some of the pragmatic economic programs proposed by moderate Chinese Communist leaders. They view these proposals as an opening to capitalism.

In a speech Christmas Day, Hua said China would have faced civil war and foreign aggression if Chiang Ching and her faction had not been stopped. He also warned of a protracted struggle against supporters of the "Gang of Four" in the coming year.

The Morning Herald report said, "The extent of the gang's support suggests that a major purge down to the most basic administrative level in the provinces will be necessary to consolidate Chairman Hua's position."

The Morning Herald's reporter wrote that Hua's Christmas speech was "a virtual admission that the four had more than a toehold in many provincial administrations."

The story said the army apparently has not taken over the provincial administration in Baoding, as it did after similar troubles erupted in Fukien province, to the south.

"Civilian authorities are plainly having difficulty in maintaining public security," it said. "Continuing disorder in provincial centers is giving China's leadership major headaches."

"There is evidence that the military would prefer a tougher approach (to the radicals) and this may be forced on the party if violence continues," the Australian journalist wrote.

Federal crackdown

Arrest skipper of oil spill ship

By The Associated Press

Pledging to put "fly-by-night" foreign operators on notice, a federal attorney obtained the arrest of the captain of a Liberian-registered tanker that spilled 133,500 gallons of oil into the Delaware River.

Meanwhile, a New York investigation continued into why a second Liberian tanker unleashed one of history's worst oil spills off Nantucket Island; the spill from a third Liberian tanker was being cleaned up in Connecticut; and a fourth was a ground off Puerto Rico.

Vasilios Vlismas, a Greek national, was taken into custody by U.S. marshals on Wednesday aboard the tanker Olympic Games, docked at the BP, Inc., refinery at Marcus Hook, 15 miles south of Philadelphia.

He was charged with violating U.S. antipollution laws by discharging petroleum into a waterway and failing to immediately notify authorities of the discharge.

After Vlismas' arrest, U.S. Atty. David Marston said, "It's high time we take decisive action to put these fly-by-night foreign operators on notice that they have to meet higher standards."

During a hearing before U.S. Magistrate Edwin Naythons, bail was set at $50,000 and another hearing was scheduled for Jan. 17.

SUBPOENAED MARINES

Three young Marines stand in front of television cameras at Camp Pendleton Wednesday after being subpoenaed to testify at court-martial trials of 13 blacks accused of assaulting white Marines they thought were members of the KKK.

Marine gets 3 months at hard labor

CAMP PENDLETON (AP) — A Marine corporal has been demoted to private and sentenced to three months at hard labor after pleading guilty to pummeling a white marine with his fists during an attack by black marines on six whites in a barracks.

"I'm glad I didn't get a BCD," (bad conduct discharge). I was worried about that," said Cpl. E. F. Henry, 20, one of 13 black Marines accused in the incident.

Henry pleaded guilty Wednesday to conspiracy and assault charges, telling a special court martial that he and the other blacks thought they were invading a group of Ku Klux Klan members.

The blacks were charged with aggravated assault and conspiracy after they allegedly beat the whites with clubs and stabbed them with screwdrivers. Five of the victims were hospitalized after the attack for periods of at least two days. One man is still in the hospital.

Henry of Ivanhoe, N.C. maintained he used only his closed fist, and the prosecution accepted his plea of guilty to reduced charges of simple assault and conspiracy.

Henry told a special court martial he and the other blacks had a "little misunderstanding" about which room Klansmen were in.

He told the judge the incident began when he and the other blacks "agreed to go over and jam (beat up) the Ku Klux Klan." They set out for another barracks and chose the particular room because "we heard a lot of noise; there was a party going on," Henry said.

When the whites answered the knock at the door, "we all rushed in," Henry said.

He was the first black to face trial in the case. The Marine Corps is expected to announce next week whether the other 12 charged will be tried. One black has been granted immunity in exchange for testimony.

Henry said he doesn't mind serving time in confinement because "at least I'm still in the Marine Corps."

In addition to the demotion and the sentence, he was ordered to take a cut in pay of $150 a month for four months.

At the end of his current enlistment next June, Henry said he plans to leave the Marines and go to school.

His attorney told newsmen he considered the penalty "an appropriate sentence."

Defense counsel Capt. Stephen F. Biegenzahn told the jury that his client realized the presence of the KKK did not justify the assault.

"If this was justified, we would have pleaded not guilty," he said.

Biegenzahn said he introduced evidence about the Klan to show "it did exist; it was at Camp Pendleton."

He said it was "the kind of thing that would stir a young black man, especially one from North Carolina, to rage."

At the hearing to determine the sentence, the defense called PFC Dennis L. Campbell Jr., an admitted KKK member, to the stand. Campbell, who said he was the third-ranked member of about 20 Klansmen at Camp Pendleton, said about five of the members lived near the marines who were attacked.

An investigation turned up a cache of weapons and white supremacy propaganda near the room invaded. The names of 16 KKK members were found on the material, and afterward 12 of these men were transferred to other bases.

State plans volunteer program for hospitals

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. says the state is starting a large volunteer program for two of its troubled mental hospitals because money and doctors can't solve all problems.

The Democratic governor announced the program Wednesday after meeting with religious leaders who will help run it.

He said he was convinced of the need for volunteers during several unannounced visits to the hospitals, most recently a Christmas visit to Metropolitan in Norwalk.

"What struck me...was that so many people just need someone to talk to them," he said.

"That isn't to say they don't need doctors, psychologists and psychiatric technicians....(But) the sum total of human needs cannot be met through the civil service bureaucracy."

Metropolitan, one of the focal points of investigations into poor care and questionable deaths at the 11 hospitals, is one of the two hospitals in the volunteer program. The other is Agnew in Santa Clara.

A Health Department spokesman said the new program envisions at least 200 volunteers working three half-days a week at each hospital.

But the California State Employees Association, which represents most state hospital staffers, said volunteers would be of "very limited" use in the hospitals.

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — President Ford is preparing to end government controls on the price of gasoline, a move already drawing criticism from a Democratic Congress that has the power to block the plan.

Ford aide John Carlson said freeing oil companies of price controls would have little effect on the cost of fuel at the service station pump, but opponents of decontrol have claimed that such a move could increase prices by as much as six cents per gallon.

The Federal Energy Administration said decontrol could hike unleaded gasoline by two cents per gallon, raising the price of all gasoline sold in the United States by about $130 million a day.

Carlson said the presidential order would be the last step in a program aimed at lifting price controls on energy products by the end of his administration. Gasoline is the only major oil product still under federal controls at the retail level.

Carlson, said Ford probably will issue the order by Tuesday, the day Congress reconvenes. Congress then would decide whether to override the order before President-elect Carter's inauguration on Jan. 20.

Carlson quoted Ford as saying he thinks it will be a "close call" to win approval of the plan in what could shape up as his final struggle with Congress.

Throughout his administration, Ford has insisted that allowing gasoline prices to rise would discourage Americans from using fuel.

Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., quickly vowed to fight Ford's proposal, calling it "a belated Christmas gift to the oil industry." Udall said the move would be unfair to consumers as well as inflationary.

But Carlson said the decision to end controls on gasoline prices would mean "very little at the pump," contending "it would remove useless and burdensome controls from a major segment of the industry, would increase competition at the refiner, wholesaler and retailer levels and would increase the incentive to increase domestic refining capacities."

He said oil companies now are charging less than they are allowed for gasoline because of competition and a lack of demand.

"It's a form of prostitution."

"For the American Cancer Society to help in the advertising of cigarettes and to accept money from a such a source is comparable to Alcoholics Anonymous promoting and profiting from the operation of a liquor store or tavern."

Bob Tracey, a spokesman for Philip Morris, said all arrangements for the benefit had been made by the local tournament promoter.

Too late to cancel—Cancer Society

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — American Cancer Society officials say it's too late to cancel a local chapter's plans to hold a benefit night at a tennis tournament sponsored by a tobacco company.

The group is selling 500 tickets to the Jan. 14 round of the Virginia Slims tennis tour. The tour is sponsored by the Philip Morris Tobacco Co.

The local chapter of the American Cancer Society sent letters to members announcing the affair. The letter portrays a young woman holding a tennis racket in one hand and a cigarette in the other.

"I guess we were stupid, but we just figured we were selling tennis tickets and not cigarettes," said Ann Forte, director of the Broward County chapter. She said it was too late to cancel the affair.

"We felt we were just working with tennis people (to raise money) the way we have worked with golf people, such as those with the Jackie Gleason Invitational Classic," Mrs. Forte said.

Dr. George Meyer, a Fort Lauderdale radiologist and antismoking crusader, brought the matter to the attention of the cancer society's state and national officials.

Jai alai measure introduced

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill that would legalize the sport of jai alai with parimutuel wagering in California has been introduced in the state Assembly.

The measure by Assemblyman Mike Cullen, D-Long Beach, was proposed Wednesday.

It would place the sport under regulation of the California Horse Racing Board, and change the board's name to the California Gaming Board.

Change brings stress

once you adjust to the old, more familiar environment.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: We had some very good fortune in our family recently. An uncle I never really knew well left me quite a sum of money, and my husband received a salary increase. We and the children took a wonderful trip with first-class accommodations. We had a good time, but each of us suffered a minor illness when we returned. My husband's back problem and my migraines recurred, our son has asthma attacks, our daughter has periods of nausea. Our doctor thinks it's psychosomatic. Could he be correct? — M.P.

DEAR M.P.: All of the illnesses you describe could be related to stress. If this is the case and your doctor is correct, then each of you will probably gradually return to normal.

Chapter meeting scheduled

Hostess for the Tuesday meeting of Chapter CS, PEO Sisterhood, will be Mrs. Noel Shutt, 5105 Old Ranch Road, La Verne.

The program will feature Founder's Day.

Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. E. C. Harrison, Mrs. R. Miller and Mrs. L. G. Knapp.

Studies have shown that changes and illnesses are closely related. This may mean positive as well as negative changes in our life style. For instance, getting married, landing a new job, having a baby, a change in financial status, are all conditions that add stress. Obviously, there's no way to totally control or eliminate stress in life.

Even if there were, few people would like to rob themselves or their families of the opportunity for change.

I think you were wise to plan a funeral for your father. Rituals of all kinds have a psychological importance in our lives, especially those rituals that mark the three major areas of personal relationships — births, marriages and deaths. These are periods of change and they need to be noted.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My children, 7 and 9, are very close to my father who is seriously ill and has only a few months to live. My husband and I wonder if they should go to his funeral when the time comes. At first, there was some debate as to whether or not we should have a funeral since my husband thinks they're old-fashioned, but my mother wants it. I'd appreciate having your views about SEA WORLD, marine life amusement center on San Diego's Mission Bay, has added a new holiday feature — Snow World. A 15,000-square-foot area is covered with a foot and a half of real snow, freshened daily by the Union Ice Company of San Diego. Sea World provides snow mats for sliding. All the visitor needs are warm clothes, boots and mittens. The park also boasts "Southern California's tallest Christmas tree," a dancing waters exhibit, and the regular shows by marine mammals.

FILMS AND FILMING, England's leading motion picture magazine, has chosen MGM's "Network" the Best Film of 1976, and Paddy Chayefsky has been honored for the best original screenplay. The magazine called the film "a frightening and disturbing insight into the power that television is capable of having." The film stars Faye Dunaway, William Holden, Peter Finch and Robert Duvall.

CURTAIN TIME! — The Claremont Playhouse presents Neil Simon's comedy, "Come Blow Your Horn" at 8 o'clock Thursday through Saturday nights . . . the musical, "Oliver," plays at Gallery Theater, Ontario, at 8 o'clock tonight, then Fridays and Saturdays through January except New Year's Day . . . the musical, "South Pacific," will open at Valley Community Theater, Pomona, at 8:30 p.m. Jan. 7, to play at that hour Fridays and Saturdays for several weeks . . . organist Herbert Jaekel will perform on the organs at Pomona College's Thatcher Music Building and Bridges Hall in a split recital at 8:15 p.m. Jan. 8 . . . "The Smile of Reason," the final film in the "Civilisation" series, will be screened in Lecture Hall 102 at Citrus College at 2 p.m. Wednesday . . . Jose Ferrer will offer his one-man show, "The Art of the Monologue," in Garrison Theater, Claremont, at 8 p.m. Jan. 7 and 8 . . . the Cleveland String Quartet will present a concert in the Social Science Center at Mt. San Antonio College at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 9 . . . pianist Elizabeth Dudley will give a recital in Bridges Hall, Pomona College, at 8:15 p.m. Jan. 9.

THE SYLVERS, popular soul group, will be joined by the duo of Marilyn McCoo and Billy Davis Jr. and the comedy team of Skiles and Henderson at Disneyland's New Year's Eve party on the Small World Stage at 9 and 10:30 p.m. and 12:15 p.m. Friday. Louie Bellson and the Big Band Explosion will play at Plaza Gardens, and Teddy Buckner and his Jazz All-Stars will perform in the French Market. Park hours for the party are 8:30 p.m. to 2:30 a.m.

SUPERSTAR DIANA ROSS has swept the three top awards of Billboard magazine, music industry trade publication. She won top pop album female artist, top singles artist and top female pop artist. bid four notrump to see if he held an ace and he showed one. Now what was I going to do?"

We suggested the famous bid of six hearts to let partner choose which major suit for the slam to play in, but he wasn't in the mood for humor.

He continued: "I was afraid to try either major suit. Five cards might not be enough so I went to six diamonds. West opened the king of clubs. East signalled viciously with the queen. A second club was led. South had to use one of my trumps to ruff and there was no way to keep East from making his trump king while the slam would have been wrapped up in either major suit."

POMONA GETS FIRE STATION

Pomona Fire Chief John Fowlkes and Public Works Director Ron Kranzer discuss a $1.3 million federal works public works grant which the city will use to build a fire station and training facility on Temple Avenue, just south of Pomona Boulevard, adjacent to Pacific State Hospital. Pictured are a helicopter pad, a training building, a drill tower and burn building, and a fire station. Cashion-Horie is the architect.

Pomona Fire Department receives its Christmas present: a new station

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

Christmas will just be a pleasant memory in another week or so, but you'll have to pardon Pomona Fire Chief John Fowlkes if he doesn't stop smiling right away.

Christmas came early for the Pomona Fire Department this year and will stay a long while in the form of a new fire station and training center.

"I'm really amazed. You work on something for years and resign yourself to a long, long wait. Then the phone rings one evening and you've got it," said Fowlkes with a grin.

The call he got was from Pomona Public Works Director Ron Kranzer, who had learned, two days before Christmas, that the city's application for a $1.3 million federal public works grant for the project had been approved.

Included in the proposed project is a 5,480 square foot fire station, a 3,875 square foot fire suppression training building, and a 5,063 square foot, seven-story drill tower and burn building, plus a landing pad for the city's police helicopter.

The training facility will be one of the most modern such facilities in the region.

"We'll be able to have training with natural fire, which we need," said Fowlkes.

The fire will be provided by natural gas burners, complemented by smoke-generating equipment.

At present, Pomona firemen drill at various sites around the city, with fires simulated by red flashing lights.

That really isn't the best training, however, said Fowlkes.

"Each man gets 33 hours of training per month. It's really the only way to maintain proficiency and job skills," said Fowlkes.

Fowlkes was involved in the planning of the training center back in 1972 when he was the assistant chief and training officer.

"Kranzer and I went all over the state looking at training centers," he recalled.

"And I sure want to thank Ron and the Public Works Department. They did a great job," Fowlkes said.

The fire station will service the western most tip of the city, including Pacific State Hospital and Cal Poly.

Included within the service area are some of the best industrial sites in the city, and officials are hoping the fire station will serve as a catalyst for growth.

"It's a real good opportunity for everyone, the Fire Department, city, chamber of commerce, everyone, to work together and promote a positive atmosphere for that industrial site," said Fowlkes.

Mayor Ray Leprie agreed.

"It will be a tremendous asset to the city. It will insure adequate fire protection for that whole area, and increased protection should encourage industrial growth," said Leprie.

The site for the fire station and training center, 7.5 acres, is located on the west side of Temple Avenue just south of the Pomona Boulevard intersection. Immediately to the west of the site is Pacific State Hospital.

The land for the facility was given to the city by the state several years ago on the condition that a fire station be built to service the hospital and university.

Plans for the fire station, drawn by the architectural firm of Cashion-Horie, were completed several years ago, although talk of the need for a station goes back to 1965.

Once the federal funds for the project are received, anticipated for sometime in January, construction will begin within 90 days.

MAC facing numerous problems in early going

By DAN NIEBRUGGE
PB Staff Writer

The current problems of the Diamond Bar Municipal Advisory Council are the problems of government at its most rudimentary stage. Council members already find themselves sacrificing their own resources to run errands or provide copies of necessary papers for the council.

Hardly two weeks old as an officially sworn body, MAC may for a short time enjoy the distinction of being one of the least expensive governmental agencies in Los Angeles County.

MAC member Don Stokes estimates that once the council completes its organizational arrangements a monthly budget of $50 to $75 may be sufficient to see the council through its duties.

The money situation will be aided by action taken by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors directing the county staff to open a bank account in behalf of the council and receive and dispense funds for the council. MAC, of course, is merely an advisory council to the county and has no taxing powers of its own. Donations must do for now.

While MAC has no office as of yet, it has acquired space to call its own in the cloakroom of the Diamond Bar Country Club where the council's sole filing cabinet — a donation — sits with the council's telephone and telephone recording device. The number is 595-6093.

MAC's only other official space in the community is its Post Office Box 4778, Diamond Bar, 91765. Both these are presently being paid for with the roughly $200 remaining from monies collected to finance the MAC election held in November. While some service clubs and interested businesses donated sums in the hundred dollar range, most of the approximately $2,600 raised was from individual donors in the $20-and-less range.

MAC is also presently functioning without a logo to adorn its stationery. This problem was to have been cleared up by a recent logo contest, but with only seven entries council members decided to renew their efforts with an expanded contest in January. One of the more frivolous suggestions called for the use of a Big Mac on the logo, but it was feared copyright restrictions might interfere with this idea.

Roger Campbell, a field deputy with Supervisor Peter Schabarum's office, will be the liaison between the county and MAC. Campbell explained that legislation adopted by the state in 1971 gave county boards of supervisors authority to create municipal advisory councils with whatever powers the county thought necessary.

In the Diamond Bar case, the MAC acts purely as a "barometer of the community's feelings," said Campbell.

Campbell said it's important to realize that the MAC will not be dealing directly with the county departments in the way a city would. City council already has proposed eight council's have legitimate powers, he said, while MAC remains an advisory agency.

With nearly 22,000 residents in Diamond Bar, MAC is well on its way to life as a bureaucracy. Officers have not yet been elected because the bylaws haven't been approved telling how to elect the officers. Despite the noticeable absence of bylaws, the

Marriage license prices going up

Note to bargain hunters: If you plan to get married or divorced, do it this week. The price goes up Monday.

Marriage licenses, now $6, will cost $8 as of Jan. 1. Fees for filing dissolutions go from $53 to $56, according to John Callinan, head deputy clerk at the Pomona Court House.

The additional fees will go toward the support of the county's conciliation courts.

Pomona bike rider injured

A 12-year-old Pomona bike rider was injured Wednesday afternoon when he ran into the side a car at Philadelphia Street west of Marquette Avenue in Pomona, police said.

The victim, Arthur L. Cordero, suffered leg injuries and was released after treatment at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Police said the accident occurred when the boy, riding on the sidewalk, struck the side of the auto at an alley entrance. A seven-foot high block wall blocked the view of both the victim and the driver, Phillip R. Chavez, 45, of Pomona, police said.

San Dimas council supports county proposal

The San Dimas City Council has voted unanimously to support the county service area proposal presently being considered by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors.

Creation of the county service areas would require county residents to pay fees for municipal type services provided by the county.

The greatest impact to county residents would be in the area of law enforcement. Sheriff's services in the county are now paid for out of the general fund. County service areas would create special fees to pay for the sheriff's services in the county area.

Fire protection, provided through fire protection districts, would not be affected.

The council took the vote prior to mont, Chino, Ontario, Upland, San Dimas, Walnut or Montclair.

On New Year's Day, post offices will make only special delivery calls. Friday will be a regular work day. Sunday will be regular weekend service, with full service resumed Monday.

Banks, normally closed Saturday and Sunday, will lock up at 3 p.m. Friday to give employees an early start on New Year's Eve. Full service will be resumed on Monday.

In Los Angeles County, all courts and county offices will be open Friday, closed Saturday and Sunday, and back in full swing Monday.

The opposite is true in San Bernardino County. All county offices and courts will be closed Friday, Saturday and Sunday, allowing employees a three-day holiday. Full service will be restored Monday.

Covina rescued in S.G. Mountains

A Covina man suffered a hip injury Wednesday afternoon when he fell while hiking in a remote area of the San Gabriel Mountains 12 miles north of Azusa.

The victim, James Brown, 22, tumbled about 1,000 feet down a 60-degree incline while hiking with three unidentified boys he had taken to the mountains. The mishap occurred about four miles north of the Rincon Ranger Station.

Sheriff's Sgt. Charles McGraw, of the San Dimas station, said the four where hiking down a chute when Brown fell. The youngest boy, 12, became so frightened at the sight of Brown falling that he refused to budge. The other two, however, 14 and 15, went back the way they had come and eventually reached help.

Members of the San Dimas Mountain Rescue Team helped the 12-year-old down from his perch and a sheriff's helicopter crew picked up Brown just before dark and flew him to Arcadia Methodist Hospital where a spokesman refused to reveal his condition or injuries.

Deputies, however, said Brown appeared to have suffered either a broken or dislocated hip.

La Verne council schedules hearing

Residents of La Verne are being asked to help the city spend about $150,000 next year.

The money is coming from the federal Housing and Community Development Act but before the city can get it, it must have some input from the public.

Therefore, the City Council has set a public hearing for 7:30 p.m. Monday at which all persons who want to discuss possible projects will be heard by the council.

Pomona City Council seat sought by community activist

"I fell in love with the City of Pomona in 1966," said Clark. "When you love something or someone you want to protect and shelter it from all harm."

Pomona was a growing city and was first in many things. We had the first mall, which is now a ghost mall except for a few businesses.

Growth creates employment. When commercial and industrial establishments leave, unemployment, boarded-up houses, welfare and crime rise.

This hit certain levels of the community hardest. Restrictions, controls and taxation without representation from all segments of the community are strangulating the city.

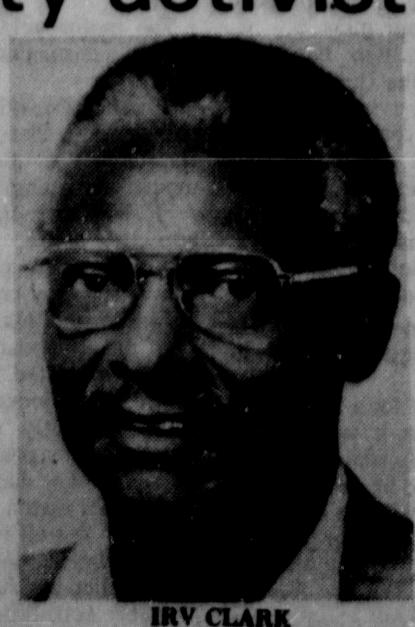

For these reasons, Clark said, he will run for the Second District council seat.

Irv Clark, a proctor at Garey High School and director of the Southside Teen Post, has filed for the Second District seat on the Pomona City Council.

This is the seat currently held by Adrian Wright. Wright took out papers, but as of Wednesday afternoon had not filed them with City Clerk Larry Thomas.

The filing period closed at noon today.

Clark, a Pomona resident since 1966, has served on numerous community projects. He was a member of the negotiating committee between the city and the Justice Department for Citizens for Equal Justice. He has worked in the Juvenile Diversion program. He was elected to the first Greater Los Angeles Community Action Program (GLACA) board.

Sales ability needed at top

Don't expect great spending changes — either up or down — in the first year of the Carter administration.

There's not much a new President can do, however radical or conservative his views may be, to effect important spending shifts in less than 12 months. It usually takes Presidents at least a year and a half to put their imprint on federal spending.

There's much talk already about the first Carter budget. The President-elect's men reportedly are already gathering the detailed material they need for amendments they expect to make in the income and spending proposals President Ford will send up in early January. There's no reason to doubt at this juncture that Mr. Carter will propose a considerable number of amendments earlier than most new Presidents — and that these could add up to some billions of dollars in proposed shifts for Congress to consider.

But the budget we are talking about — the Carter-amended Ford budget — takes effect in October 1977 and then only if Congress has voted the funds by that time.

Though the funds for major new programs presumably could be made available in October, Congress willing, getting high spending plans into action involves a complicated series of steps which takes months. Most major federal programs, in fact, turn out to be amazingly small the first year of operation. The mammoth undertakings we look at in amazement today are, in the main, several years old.

Now it is quite possible that Mr. Carter will attempt to beat the game — quite legitimately — in a supplementary budget for this fiscal year, that is, for the 12 months which began in October 1976. If sizable changes are involved, this would require a major juggling of accounts with a speed not seen to date. It would involve adjustments in income and outgo so complicated they would paralyze the major departments of government whose spending programs are set for the year. And it would most assuredly involve putting the government far more into the red than even Congress is likely willing to go.

That's not all. The juggling might be done in jig time on paper in the Carter White House. But it would take Congress months to hold hearings, argue and vote on any radical departures Mr. Carter might propose, even if they were simple repetitions of measures Congress previously voted and President Ford vetoed. For when bills are run through the mill again, they're invariably chewed over. What comes out the second go-round rarely mirrors the bill passed the first try.

Therefore, if unemployment is to be reduced significantly in 1977 and the economy is to move ahead briskly, it will be because of forces set in motion in 1976, or because industrialists become so optimistic at the prospects they see in the years just ahead that they implement expansion plans of a size not seen in recent years. And because consumers, who have been cautious with their money of late, decide that 1977 is the year to draw down their savings accounts and start buying.

Mr. Carter's problem, then, is not the budget, or Congress. His task is to create an attitude of confidence through the country, a confidence among the rich, the middle class and the poor that things are going to get better and stay better.

The rich and the middle class must be convinced it will pay for them to take the chances they must take to set things rolling. The poor must be convinced they have a part to play and that the upswing will not pass them by.

The question is whether President Carter has that sales ability.

Think on these things

The end of anything is always a bit of a shock. Whether it is the end of an era, a life, a year — it always seems that it should have gone on a little longer. It crosses our minds time and again that we cannot believe it is over — what happened to the time?

It is just difficult for us to realize that we are viewing the end of something by our limited understanding and vision. That which is, has always been and will always be — and though it moves out of our sight it does not mean that it ceases to exist. Only we have divisions that set apart those things that keep our lives in order. It all has tremendous meaning with no beginning and no ending but makes up a life, an era, a year — a moment — vivid with hope.

Thought

We who are strong ought to bear with the failings of the weak, and not to please ourselves; let each of us please his neighbor for his good, to edify him. — Romans 15:1,2.

"Every great man is always being helped by everybody; for his gift is to get good out of all things and all persons." — John Ruskin, English essayist.

Dr. Miller

Rabbit's disease for a cat?

DEAR DR. MILLER: Harry Hoppy our rabbit is accepting our new cat, Tomboy. Is it possible these two will get to be really good friends? Is there any disease a rabbit could give a cat? — D.V.

DEAR D.V.: Rabbits can often carry pasteurella or other organisms which could be transmitted to a cat. Either species could carry and/or trade skin and ear parasitic infestations and/or fungus ringworm infections. Both should be checked for such possibilities as part of a routine physical. Rabbits and cats are slightly incompatible in relation to climatic considerations. Cats normally prefer a bit more heat. Taking the above factors into consideration, and if you keep close watch on them when they're together, Harry and Tomboy might still become friends — buddies, even (it's happened before.)

DEAR DR. MILLER: Two years ago, we found our Springer Spaniel had a bad ear infection. It had gotten from the outer ear into the middle ear. Boy, did we have a time clearing that up. Now, we've been told our second dog, a Cocker, has the same thing! Friends who've had dogs a lot longer than we have say they've had dogs with bad ears all their lives and never heard of infection in the middle ear. I'm really not looking forward to a big, expensive bill for ear treatment again. Is it possible that there could be some kind of "mistake" in this diagnosis? — K.C.

DEAR K.C.: Since you're uneasy about your veterinarian's recommendations and treatment, the added expense of a second veterinarian's opinion may be worth it to you. An observation, however: Canine ear infections which are not noticed and treated early tend to go from the outer ear canal (otitis externa) behind the ear drum into the middle ear (otitis media) and it's true these middle ear infections are much more difficult to treat than those limited to the outer canal. Nor is this uncommon. More than half these outer ear infections, when allowed to become chronic, develop middle ear complications.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Gladys kept throwing up all the time. But just after she ate. She seemed fine afterward and felt good between meals. I discovered when I ran out of dry food and bought some canned food that that's what it was. The dry food. She didn't vomit at all, and hasn't on canned food. I gave her some more dry food just to check. Yes, you guessed it. She threw it up again. I think I can safely say now that some cats like Gladys get upset stomachs from dry food. Do you agree? — T.A.

DEAR T.A.: Yes, I do.

For Friday, Dec. 31, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're very generous today and could be prone to contribute more than your share. Don't hobnob with people who leave before the tab comes.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It may take you a while to get in the swing of things. You have some serious matters on your mind. The party will wait.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll enjoy welcoming the New Year more if you don't travel too far to have fun. Do your celebrating in the neighborhood.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Chances are you'll spend more than you should to have a good time tonight. You'll enjoy it where there's a big crowd and lots of noise.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's very important to be among people you know and like today. You'll be uncomfortable among too many strangers.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll meet some new people today. It may be difficult to draw them into a conservation. It'll be worthwhile to put forth your best effort.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Involve yourself in enjoyable activities tonight. Don't try to mix business with your pleasure. It just won't work out.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Select companions this evening whose interests coincide. The wrong choice will take the edge off the party.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You won't be at ease today if you've neglected some important responsibilities. Get them out of the way, then let yourself go.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Ring in the New Year in some different and interesting way tonight. Include your friends and everyone will have a happy time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you and your mate have a disagreement today, don't air it in public. Wait until the two of you are alone to talk it over.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Partake fully of the festivities tonight, but avoid anything you know disagrees with you. Discipline makes a happier morning after.

Your Birthday, Dec. 31, 1976

Some interesting propositions come to you this year, but they must be screened carefully. You don't want to get involved with a person of questionable reputation.

How to break up a marriage

Dear Ann: Please repeat that great column, "Ten Ways to Break Up a Marriage." I need it NOW. — SOS

Dear SOS: Here it is. Thanks for asking.

1. When sons or daughters let you know they plan to be married, show open hostility to the person of their choice. After all, marriage means less love and attention for parents and they have a right to resent it.

2. Expect your married children to spend every Sunday and holiday at your home. Act hurt if they have other plans.

3. If your married children have problems with their mates, encourage them to come home, no matter what. Listen attentively to all complaints and point out additional faults which may have gone unobserved. Remember, single drops of water can wear away any rock if the drops keep falling long enough.

4. When your married children have financial problems, rush in with the checkbook. If you are having financial problems yourself, borrow, if necessary, but let them know they'll never have to do without anything so long as you are around.

5. If a married child has a drinking problem, tell him his mate drove him to it. It will make him feel better. Everyone needs someone to blame.

6. If your married son gets an opportunity for advancement which takes him to another city, tell him "family is more important than money." If he leaves anyway, remind him that God punishes those who ignore the commandment, "Honor thy father and thy mother."

7. If there are grandchildren, smother them with gifts. If the parents object, tell them to keep out of it. After all, grandchildren are to spoil. Sneak money to the little ones secretly if you have to. They'll love you for it.

8. If your married child has a difference of opinion with his mate, get into the act and give them both a sample of your wisdom born of years of experience. What do THEY know? You've lived!

9. When your married sons or daughters visit with their children, make a point of how thin and tired kids look. Get across the message that you don't like the way your beloved grandchildren are being cared for. Ask repeatedly what they eat and why they have so many colds. If a kid breaks a tooth or is injured during play, get all the details and place the blame on lack of maternal supervision.

10. If your son has a button off his shirt, say something. Also mention the hole in his sock or the spot on coat. It will fan the flames of self-pity and could start the final fight that ends in the divorce court.

Dear Ann: My wife had an affair with her boss. I was aware of it and waited patiently, hoping it would terminate. Finally I told her I knew. She admitted everything and ended the affair immediately. We have had a perfect relationship ever since but I can't get that man out of my mind. Whenever we make love I think of him in bed with her.

I can't afford therapy. What should I do? — No Name, No Town

Dear N.N.T.: I've said this so often I'm beginning to sound like a cracked record. My apologies to all who are sick of it.

Therapy is available for those who cannot pay. Contact your county or state Mental Health Association. Check Community Referral Service. Help is as near as your phonebook.

Does marriage change a man?

Ambitious brides can change their husbands personalities only if those husbands are under 28 years of age. Or so says one matrimonial specialist. "Most men get set in their ways by then," he avers. Our Love and War man does not concur. He says most bridegrooms change their ways to one degree or another as soon as they marry, no matter at what age. He cites the case of a widower who gave up cigars, hard liquor and Monday night football when he remarried at age 73. For the first time in his life, he did divided duty with his bride on the interior household chores, taking on the toast making, the dish washing and the floor sweeping. And instead of getting up every dawn at five o'clock as he'd done for years, he thence-forward remained abed daily until almost noon, devoting the last several morning hours to coy dialogue. The Hollywood Squares and some of the more romantic tapes of Kris Kristofferson.

PET FOOD

Q. "What do the pet food people mean when they talk about the four D's?"

A. Refers to meat from animals that are dead, dying, diseased or disabled. Odd you'd hear any pet food people use the expression, though. It's a Department of Agriculture phrase. Please note, not all the meat and meat byproducts in pet food should be so described. For instance, I understand Ken-L Ration, for one, relies rather on low-grade federally inspected meats. Also, it makes little difference to the pet whether the meat is Four-D or otherwise. It's processed at such high temperatures that there's no danger in it.

BATH

A knight in the old days who wanted to join the English Order of the Bath actually had to prove he'd taken a bath. But such proof is no longer needed from a candidate to that Order today. Matter of personal honor. Now, if such a fellow swears he's taken a bath, that's it, they believe him. No affidavits, witnesses or Polaroid pictures necessary.

Give tomorrow a welcome

I heard about a person who, realizing that the New Year was coming, gloomily declared, "Go away tomorrow." That's sad, isn't it? One of the great tragedies of life is to find yourself trapped and boxed-in by today because of your fears of tomorrow.

If you have a tendency to feel pessimistic about the future, remember this: Every new baby that's born is proof that God hasn't given up on the

Jaekel to play on two organs

Herbert Jaekel, an advanced student of performance at the Claremont Graduate School, will present recitals on both of the organs at Pomona College starting at 8:15 p.m. Jan. 8.

Jaekel will play music of the Baroque era on the Von Beckerath tracker-action organ in Lyman Hall. The program includes the "Mass for the Convents" by Francis Couperin, Buxtehude's Chorale Fantasia on the chorale melody "How Brightly Shines the Morning Star," the chorale prelude "Schmucke dich, O Liebe Seele," by J.S. Bach, and Bach's Prelude and Fugue in B Minor.

Following the intermission, the concert will resume in Bridges Hall, so that Jaekel's selections in the Romantic style may be heard on the four-manual Moller organ. These will include two chorale preludes by Johannes Brahms, "Mein Jesu, der du mich" and "Herzlich tut mich verlangen," the Benedictus by Max Reger, and the "Prelude and Fugue on the Name of Alain" by Maurice Durfee.

The concert is offered in partial fulfillment of the degree of master of arts in music at the Claremont Graduate School. The public is invited to attend without admission charge.

Giants in Chino finals

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

Ganesha High, behind 34 points by junior forward James Verdon, ran past Upland Wednesday night and into tonight's championship finals of the Chino High Invitational Basketball Tournament.

An all-San Antonio League finale was denied when Mt. Carmel beat Claremont, 65-60, in the other championship semifinal game.

Championship final

Ganesha vs. Mt. Carmel, 8 p.m.

(All tourney games at Chino High)

Ganesha, a 83-65 winner over the Highlanders, will meet Mt. Carmel's Sun Devils for the tournament title tonight at 8 p.m. Mt. Carmel, a San Diego school, also played in last year's finals and lost to Alta Loma, 51-43.

Upland will play Claremont for third place tonight at 6:30 after Alta

Loma battles University for fourth place at 5 p.m. La Canada and Edgewood were scheduled to meet for the consolation championship at 3:30 p.m.

Alta Loma dumped Escondido, 69-52, Wednesday while University nipped Bonita, 60-58. In the consolation bracket, Edgewood eliminated Chino, 67-58, and La Canada ousted Cerritos, 40-38.

Rebounding was Ganesha's primary weapon in what turned out to be a runaway win over Upland. The Giants collected 54 boards to Upland's 30 and took 80 shots to the Highlanders' 62.

Verdon and teammate George Hawthorne combined for 52 points, a good number of them on tip-ins and follow shots. Verdon grabbed 14 rebounds to go with his 34 points and Hawthorne, a 6-foot-10 center, had 18 points, 16 rebounds and five blocked shots.

Ganesha's Steve Polee scored 13 pots and stole the ball four times while Steve Hanson paced Upland with 17 points and teammate Brad Todd added 10.

The game was tied at 29 with a minute and a half to play in the first half, but the Giants scored six straight points to take a 35-29 lead at the intermission.

Upland trailed by just three, 44-41, midway through the third quarter.

but Ganesha reeled off 11 straight points — seven of them by Verdon — for a 55-41 lead and that was the ball game. The Giants hit on 14 of 24 shots in the fourth quarter for a big 28-point period and the final 18-point margin.

The Giants made 37 of 80 shots (46 per cent) and Upland made 26 of 62 (42 per cent).

Ganesha has never won the Chino tourney, now in its 36th year. The last SAL team to win was Claremont, in 1973.

The Wolfpack might have been in tonight's finals but for foul trouble Wednesday night.

Claremont made 25 field goals to Mt. Carmel's 22 but were beaten at the foul line. The Sun Devils converted 21 of 27 free throws while the Pack made 10 of 14. Claremont was charged with 22 fouls — each of the five starters had four — and Mt. Carmel was caught 15 times.

The Pack took a 45-42 lead into the fourth quarter but immediately fell behind because of fouls. Mt. Carmel's Mike Doucet, an all-tourney selection last year and the game's leading scorer with 24, opened the final period with two successful free throws and then the Sun Devils took the lead on a big play with 6:12 remaining.

Doucet made a field goal and teammate Rod Dingler, another all-tourney pick last year, was fouled away from the ball. Dingler made both ends of a one-plus-one situation to give Mt. Carmel a 48-45 lead and the Pack never got closer than two points. The Sun Devils made 11 free throws in the final quarter to keep Claremont at bay.

The loss was particularly tough for Jack Smith and his team in light of Claremont's big comeback in the second and third quarters. Mt. Carmel jumped out to a 19-6 lead before Claremont's Kelly Gordien caught fire to lead the Pack back to a one-point deficit, 34-33, at halftime.

Gordien scored 15 of his 21 points and grabbed seven of his nine rebounds in the second quarter. Claremont's Jim Young scored 17 points on the game.

Alta Loma's John Conger scored a game-high 22 points to lead the Braves past Escondido. Teammate Rich Davis also played an important role with 16 points, 16 rebounds and six blocked shots.

The Braves held a huge advantage in rebounding, 52-27.

Chino's Roger Hairston scored 24 points but the Cowboys were ousted by Edgewood, whose Sam Favata scored 26.

Bonita was also knocked out of the tournament by University despite Keith Knight's 16 points, Keith Brandt's 14 and Mike Boyd's 13.

TWO FOR MARQUES

Johnson scores 31 as UCLA rallies

By The Associated Press

Marques Johnson is back in form, at the top of his form, and that means basketball opponents of UCLA and USC should form some kind of self-protection group.

Johnson, the dazzling forward hampered by a knee injury the last three games, was at the top of his game Wednesday, pouring in 31 points as eighth-ranked UCLA rallied in the second half to down tough Utah State 88-68.

In Hawaii, the third-ranked Dons combined a fast break and deadly shooting to whip Arizona State 114-96 and move into the finals of the Rainbow Classic.

Elsewhere among West Coast teams, Washington beat LaSalle 114-94 to win the Cabrillo Classic, 11th-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas beat back St. Mary's 104-81 to win the Las Vegas Holiday Classic, and Long Beach State won the Long Beach Invitational by downing Portland State 101-90.

Southern California defeated Pittsburgh 76-67 in a first round game of the Lobo Invitational tournament, and VMI defeated California 73-71 in the All-College tournament. In the Far West Classic, North Carolina beat Oregon 86-60 and Oregon State beat Texas A&M 80-58.

"I wasn't really conscious of how many points I was scoring," said Johnson as he led his team from a one-point halftime deficit to its ninth win in 10 games.

Coach Gene Bartow called the Bruins' second half "As consistent as we've played all year and our defense was exceptional."

In Hawaii, the Dons were exceptional in running their record to 14-0. All five starters scored in double figures as the Dons raced to a 10-point halftime lead and coasted home in the second half.

Marlon Redmond had 22 points for USF, Bill Cartwright 21, and James Hard 19.

Kim Stewart and Chester Dorsey combined for 43 points to help Washington win the Cabrillo tournament. The hot-shooting Huskies sank 10 of their first 12 shots from the field enroute to a 28-10 margin after six minutes.

UNLV led stubborn St. Mary's by only one point midway through the last half, but the Rebels then pulled away for their 10th victory against a single loss. Ed Owens had 21 for the winners and Nick Pappageorge had 17 for the Gaels, 4-5.

Michael Wiley poured in 26 points and Richard Johnson added 25 to lead Long Beach to victory in its own tournament, despite 43 points by the team's leading scorer, Freeman Williams of Portland State.

Will Bynum and Ron Carter teamed for 41 points in VMI's win over Cal in a semifinal contest of the Oklahoma City tournament. Gene Ransom had 19 for the Bears.

The ninth-ranked Tar Heels gave Oregon a lesson in defense in the semifinals of the Far West tournament.

Cleve Porter stars for USC

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — Cleve Porter, a junior forward from Pomona, enjoyed his finest game as a Trojan here Wednesday night by scoring 27 points and grabbing nine rebounds to lead USC to a 76-67 win over Pittsburgh in the first round of the Lobo Classic.

USC (3-7) will play host New Mexico tonight in the championship game which will be shown on a delayed telecast in L.A. at 11 p.m. on KCOP (13). New Mexico beat Iowa, 96-83, in Wednesday's other game.

Porter, a junior forward from Ganesha High, scored his career high at USC by making 12 of 23 field goals and three of four free throws. The Trojans will be counting on more points from Porter with their top scorer, Greg White, out with a stress fracture on his left foot.

"This was Porter's best game of the year," praised Trojan coach Bob Boyd. "He kept Larry Harris under control and his nine rebounds helped us control the boards."

A.L. cager top athlete

Kevin Comstock, Alta Loma

High's 6-foot-4½ senior forward, has been named the Progress Bulletin's

Athlete of the Week.

Comstock was named the Most Valuable Player of the Cabrillo

Classic in Lompoc after leading the Braves to the tournament title.

KEVIN COMSTOCK . . . Athlete of the Week

He scored 23 points and grabbed 14 rebounds in the championship game as Alta Loma defeated Loara, 54-40.

Comstock averaged 19.7 points and 12 rebounds per game in the tournament. The Braves averaged only 50 points per game, beating Cabrillo, 52-42, and Los Altos of San Francisco, 44-33, in their first two tourney outings.

Comstock, Alta Loma's leading scorer on the year, has made up in part for the absence of forward Jeff Anderson, who injured his ankle in the Upland-Montclair Tournament.

He will be presented a plaque by Pomona Elks Lodge 789 at a dinner at the lodge on Jan. 12. The lodge sponsors the PB Athlete of the Week program.

Shoe boots home big S.A. winner

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Current Concept, off at 9-1, carried Bill Shoemaker to victory in the $61,900 California Breeders' Champion Stakes at Santa Anita, giving the jockey a rare $20 payoff.

Current Concept covered the seven-furlong distance for 2-year-olds foaled in California in a rapid 1:21 4-5, a stakes record.

Shoemaker normally rides favorites, and rarely takes a mount considered a longshot. And when he does, the horse is usually "bet down" to lesser odds.

In the seven-furlong Breeders' Stakes, Current Concept was a 10-to-1 longshot on the morning line, and by post time the crowd of 23,019 had not wagered enough money to drop the price much.

There was no question, however, about which was the better runner in this 13-horse field. Current Concept, carrying 117 pounds, darted to the front early and never let up in recording a wire-to-wire victory by nearly six lengths over Rescator, another longshot off at 17-1.

Shrine QBs to split time

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Both head coaches for the 52nd Shrine East-West Game said Wednesday they'll go into Sunday's game planning to alternate quarterbacks by periods.

Joe Roth of California and Mark Jackson of Baylor will share the West quarterbacking work, while the East has Tony Dungy of Minnesota and Randy Dean of Northwestern.

Jones is NFL MVP

NEW YORK (AP) — Bert Jones, named earlier as National Football League Offensive Player of the Year, completed a double award triumph today when he was chosen as Most Valuable Player by the Associated Press.

Jones finished second only to Stabler in passing statistics this season, completing better than 60 per cent of his attempts for 3,104 yards and 24 touchdowns. He said the Colt coaches had much to do with his success.

"My ability hasn't changed much in the last five or six years," he said.

"But through coaching, I've been able to progress and become the player I have. It's a great honor to me but also a great tribute to the coaching staff of the Colts."

Ted Marchibroda, coach of the Colts, said Jones was a deserving winner of the twin honors.

"He had as much to do about carrying us to the playoffs as any single individual for any club," said Marchibroda. "He has great ability and works hard. His talents on offense are more easily recognizable."

Joe Thomas, vice president and general manager of the Colts, who drafted Jones in 1973, echoed his coach.

"I'm happy that Bert achieved those awards," Thomas said. "When we drafted him, we hoped this would happen. He puts in a lot of hard work and dedication. That's the price he has to pay and that's what separates players equal in ability."

Jones grew up in a pro football atmosphere with his father, Dub, an outstanding receiver and later a coach for the Cleveland Browns. Bert starred at LSU and was the second player chosen in the 1973 NFL draft.

In the final game of his second season, he set an NFL record with 17 consecutive completions against the New York Jets. That performance moved him in the NFL record book alongside his father, who once scored a record six TDs in a single game.

They are the only father-son combination to hold NFL marks. It also signalled Bert's arrival as a first rate NFL quarterback.

"I don't think he's hit his peak yet," said Pete McCullum, Baltimore's receiver coach. "He's getting better every year and I don't see why he should stop."

Rose parade salutes 'The Good Life'

PASADENA — Everyone loves a parade, and the 1977 Pasadena Tournament of Roses Parade promises to be one of the best ever.

"The Good Life" is the theme for the two-hour New Year's Day spectacular, which will be the 88th held in Pasadena since 1890, when a small group of citizens launched the annual affair to highlight the good life they had found in their newly settled environs.

Sixty one flower-covered floats, 22 bands with over 4,000 musicians and 250 equestrian riders will take part in the 5½ mile trek through the streets of Pasadena.

Highlighting the 1977 pageant will be the appearances of Grand Marshals Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, and the 58th Rose Queen, Diane Jene Ramaker.

Roy and Dale, who are known as the King of the Cowboys and Queen of the West, are the first husband and wife to serve as grand marshals. They join Los Angeles Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz (1937) and actors Leo Carrillo (1938) and John Wayne (1973) as the only personalities of Western fame to hold the honor.

Queen Diane is a sophomore at Pasadena City College, and along with her Royal Court of six princesses, was selected from among 695 coeds in the greater Pasadena area who tried out for the coveted title this year.

Six organizations will sponsor floats in the 1977 Rose Parade for the first time. These include the cities of Carson and Mission Viejo, Robert Schuller's Hour of Power, the Order Sons of Italy in America, American Honda Motor Co. and Winchell's Donut House. Along with the 55 other float entries, each is vying for one of 18 major float trophies.

Among special equestrian groups invited to participate are the Long Beach Mounted Police (whose golden palominos have heralded the parade since 1969), the El Azhar Mounted Patrol and the Sacramento County Sheriff's Posse. For the first time in history, a special unit of eight mules will also be included.

Musical groups include the Pasadena City College Lancer Band (official band of the Tournament of Roses), the McDonald's All-American High School Band, and bands from the U.S. Marine Corps, the Salvation Army, California State University at Long Beach, the University of Michigan and the University of Southern California.

In addition, a total of 15 high school bands will be featured, including five from outside California. These are the Cary H.S. Marching Band, Cary, N.C.; the Fairview H.S. Marching Knights, Boulder, Colo.; the Lawrenceberg Tiger Show Band, Lawrenceberg, Ind.; the John Marshall H.S. Ram Band, San Antonio, Tex., and the Union-Endicott H.S. Marching Showband, Endicott, N.Y.

According to Tournament of Roses Association President Carl E. Wopschall, more than 65,000 man hours will be devoted to staging the 1977 Rose Parade by his organization's 1,400 volunteer members, working on 29 committees.

Wopschall estimates that 1½ million persons will again line the parade route, while another half-million are expected to view the floats in Pasadena's post-parade area on Jan. 1 and 2. Worldwide television viewership is estimated at over 125 million persons, Wopschall said.

The 88th Rose Parade, which begins promptly at 8:30 a.m. will be telecast live over the NBC, CBS, Metromedia, Golden West and Spanish International Networks. In Los Angeles, the pageant will also be seen over KCOP-TV on New Year's Day morning.

Rose Bowl built in 1922

Early Rose Bowl Games were played in Tournament Park, now a part of the campus of California Institute of Technology. The present Rose Bowl — built in 1922 — was used for a regular season game between USC and California prior to the first Rose Bowl Game in the stadium on New Year's Day, 1923. It was originally horse-shoe shaped and seated 57,000 persons. The South end was enclosed in time for the 1929 game, and enlarged to seat 76,000 spectators.

The Rose Bowl is one of the finest football stadiums in America. It was built specifically for football, but was used for portions of the Olympic Games in 1932. The Rose Bowl has 77 rows of seats. It measures 880 feet from north to south rims and 695 feet from east to west rims. Its circumference around the rim is 2,430 feet, while the circumference around the inside at field level is 1,350. It took 28 miles of lumber to provide the original seats for the Rose Bowl. The turfed area inside the bowl is 79,156 square feet.

The field runs north and south.

A new press box, on the west rim of the Rose Bowl, was completed prior to the 1962 Rose Bowl game at a cost of $356,000. It includes an elevator and two enclosed levels for the convenience of the nation's sportswriters and sportscasters who give this "grand-daddy" of all bowl games world-wide coverage.

The fence around the Rose Bowl is one mile in circumference.

The stadium attendance record is 106,869, set in 1973.

For the 1977 game, the seating capacity is:

Bowl Seats — 94,405
Loge Seats — 9,603
Press Box — 359
Band Areas — 330
Total — 104,697

Bell's status key question for USC

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

USC's biggest question mark when it takes the field against Michigan Saturday in the 63rd Rose Bowl game will be how well some of its stellar performers can function.

Can Ricky Bell regain his great early season form? How much will Randy Simmrin be able to play and how well?

Those are the key questions that will be answered. Bell, the most devastating runner in the country the first five games, was slowed to a walk by injuries and was only ordinary when he returned to action.

The big (6-2, 218) tailback rushed for 1,008 yards the first five games, an average of 201.6 per game. But he suffered a painful hip pointer the sixth game (Oregon St.) and a severe ankle sprain the following week (Cal).

After that Bell was never the same. He missed one game (Stanford) entirely and played only part time in another (Washington). For the last six games, he averaged only 68 yards a game.

What Bell is to the running game, Simmrin is to the passing game. The skinny (6-2, 165) junior was the Trojans' main big play receiver. He caught 31 passes for 626 yards, an average of 20.2 yards per reception.

Simmrin managed to stay healthy all season but sustained a knee injury last week in practice.

At first it was feared surgery would be required. But later it was announced that the injury was only a sprain. Simmrin was given a medical clearance and rejoined the team Monday but still limped noticeably.

How important is Simmrin?

"For us to win the game, I think Simmrin has to make a big play for us," says USC coach John Robinson candidly. "Randy's one of the best receivers in the country. He's a lot like Lynn Swann, he'll do anything to catch the ball."

To make the passing game work, quarterback Vince Evans will have to have one of his good days. The husky (6-2, 208) senior completely reversed his 1975 showing (only 35 of 112 passes completed with nine intercepted).

Evans, under the coaching of Paul Hackett, connected on 81 of 157 passes this year for 1,259 yards with only five intercepted.

If Evans falters, the Trojans can call on Rob Hertel who just may be the best backup quarterback in college football. Hertel came off the bench to complete 30 of 46 passes (65 percent) for 452 yards and eight touchdowns including a school record-tying four TD tosses against Iowa.

In contrast, Michigan will be in deep, deep trouble if anything happens to quarterback Rick Leach. Leach's backups are inexperienced Stacy Johnson and John Wangler.

Johnson, a sophomore, completed two of three passes and carried the ball 21 times. Wangler, only a freshman, threw two passes and carried the ball three times.

As the quarterback makes the passing game go in the USC power I system, so does the fullback make the running game go.

But by the end of the season, both Dave Farmer and Mosi Tatupu were hurt. Both had sprained knees.

Farmer, a 6-2, 210-pound senior, has never lost a yard rushing. This year he averaged a stunning nine yards per carry on 34 carries (307 yards).

Tatupu, the stocky (6-0, 220) Samoan, is a junior who averaged 6.8 yards on 49 carries (for 333 yards).

Former USC coach John McKay called Farmer "the best runner of our rotating fullbacks" and that was when Ricky Bell was operating at fullback!

"Mosi is the best blocking back at USC since Sam Cunningham," says Robinson. "He doesn't have to bend over to block you. He's both a good runner and a good receiver. Tackling him is like trying to tackle a Coke machine."

Both Farmer and Tatupu reportedly have recovered from their knee problems.

The Trojan depth extends to tailback where freshman Charles White backs up Bell. All the 6-0, 180-pound White did was average an even six yards per carry on 124 carries which netted him 744 yards.

Add to Troy's passing and running game the merits of tight end William (not Bill) Gay. The 6-6, 225-pound junior is a fine receiver and is called by Robinson, "the best blocking tight end in college football."

USC, as usual, has its awesome supply of linemen. Most prominent are tackles Marvin Powell (6-5, 265), Otis Page (6-6, 265), John Schumacher (6-5, 275), and guards Brad Budde (6-6, 250), Donnie Hickman (6-3, 255) and Pat Howell (6-6, 252).

On defense, the Trojans use three down linemen and four linebackers as opposed to Michigan's five-man defensive alignment (two ends, two tackles and a middle or "nose" guard).

Prominent among the down linemen are tackles Gary Jeter (6-4, 255) and Walt Underwood (6-4, 220) plus Harold Steele (6-1, 240), the middle guard.

Backing the above three up and playing a lot are Rich Domm (6-6, 260), and Vinny Van Dyke (6-5, 252).

The linebackers include Rod Martin (6-2, 195), Eric Williams (6-2, 215), David Lewis (6-4, 230), Clay Matthews (6-2, 232) and Mario Celotto (6-4, 230). Celotto was hampered by injuries or would have been a regular.

Martin had 97 tackles, Lewis 63, and Matthews 104, second highest on the team. But Williams topped them all with 120.

Then there is the fine Troy defensive backfield corps of Ricky Odom, Dennis Thurman, Clint Strozier and Ron Bush.

The backs accounted for 167 tackles and 18 interceptions. USC's defense can be great. Michigan should give it a thorough test.

"Michigan has the best offense we've faced," said Robinson. They have frightening speed and great intelligence with veteran players. The whole team is outstanding. Lytle is only one of eight or nine great players."

Michigan features speed on this trip

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

The Michigan football team that will face USC in the Rose Bowl Saturday differs from Bo Schembechler's previous Rose Bowl representatives in one respect.

Speed. The Wolverines have it in abundance.

Michigan is known as a power team which it is. But the Wolverines' offense is anything but the old "three-yards-and-a-cloud-of-dust."

The Wolverines, circa 1976, no longer grind out yardage. They spew it out.

Schembechler has five backs so good he considers them all starters. They are Rick Leach, Rob Lytle, Harlan Huckleby, Jim Smith and Russ Davis.

All have sprinters' speed.

Leach is the key that unlocks an explosive offense. The young lefthander is probably the most experienced sophomore quarterback in the history of college football.

When the 6-1, 180-pounder takes the field Saturday, he'll be starting his 24th game for the Michiganders. His career rushing average is a neat 5.4 yards per carry and this year he averaged an even six yards a try.

While he'll never be called a "pure passer," Leach very definitely is an effective one. He completed nearly half (46 of 93) of his attempts this year.

Most impressive is the 1,577 yards his passes netted. That averages out to 9.3 yards per completion. Only two signal callers in the entire 28-team NFL did better.

Kenny Stabler of Oakland averaged 9.41 per pass and the Rams' James Harris averaged 9.24.

"We don't pass often," Schembechler says. "But when we do, we do it for touchdowns." Leach's 43 completions accounted for 16 touchdowns or one every 2.7 times he connected.

All-American Rob Lytle is the best known runner of the lot. He and Smith are the only seniors in the group. The 6-1, 195-pounder owns most of Michigan's rushing records.

This season he averaged 6.9 yards per carry enroute to a record 1402 season total and a career mark of 3,250.

"Rob has both speed (4.45 for 40 yards) and power," Schembechler notes. "And he also is an excellent blocker."

Lytle will alternate between tailback and fullback Saturday. Huckleby takes over at tailback when Lytle moves to fullback. When Lytle is the tailback, Davis is the fullback.

Huckleby has blazing speed. "He's our fastest back," grinned Schembechler. "He beat Lytle in a race." Huckleby, a 6-1 1/2, 195-pound sophomore, has averaged 6.2 yards per carry in two years at Michigan.

Davis, another sophomore, is Ricky Bell's size (6-2, 215). Is he fast? "He was a tailback originally and has a tailback's speed," smiled Schembechler.

Davis, like Lytle and Huckleby, has starred in track. He ran a 9.9 hundred and set a Virginia prep record with a 6-9 high jump. Huckleby ran a 9.5 hundred in high school in Detroit, and was the Michigan state 100 and 220 champion in Class A schools. Lytle finished fifth in the Big Ten Indoor Track Championships in the 60-yard dash as a sophomore.

Smith, also an All-American, may be the best of the lot.

The 6-3 1/2, 205-pound senior was the premier wide receiver in the Big Ten. He averaged 27.6 yards a catch on his 24 receptions.

As a ball carrier, he averaged a scorching seven yards a carry in his four-year career!

As a punt returner this year, he averaged 12.5 yards per return and 18.8 on kickoff returns.

Woody Hayes called his wingback of 1973, '74 and '75, his best athlete. Baschnagel has done well for the Chicago Bears. Smith is the Wolverines' best athlete.

"Baschnagel doesn't have the speed or overall ability Smith has," said Schembechler bluntly. "I think Smith's best spot is wide receiver, but he could play either tailback or fullback very well."

The backfield works behind a young but experienced offensive line. In fact four of the players are two-year starters and only one of six, depending on who starts at one of the guard positions, is a senior.

All-American Mark Donahue heads a group of five sparkling juniors. A 6-3 1/2, 245-pounder from Illinois, Donahue is one of four Michigan All-Americans.

The other juniors are tackles Mike Kenn (6-6, 245) and Bill Dufek (6-4, 250), center Walt Downing (6-4, 250), and guard Gary Szara (6-2-240).

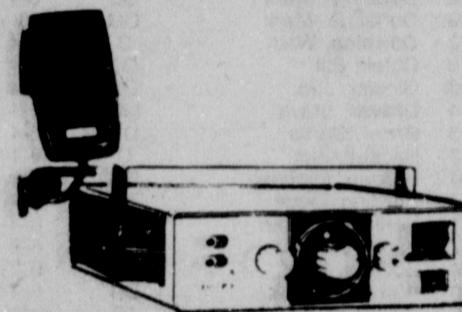

Szara took over and started most of the year after the Wolverines' best blocker, Kirk Lewis, suffered an arm injury.

Lewis is the only senior of the lot. A 6-3 1/2, 235-pounder, he returned to play the last two games of the season. Either he or Szara will start Saturday.

"Our offense can only get better because only two of the 11 are seniors," Schembechler theorized.

Michigan's defense, which must stop power packed USC, is surprisingly small. The line averages only 219 pounds with tackle John Hennessy (6-4, 235) the biggest. But the other tackle, Greg Morton (6-2, 225) is the best. He was credited with 124 tackles this season and 118 in 1975.

"We're usually a little smaller than the other team, particularly on defense," admitted Schembechler. "But we're very quick."

But Schembechler is the first to admit that USC is something else. "They're big and quick," he said. "We haven't faced a team that can do the things USC can do. They're easily the most powerful team we play."

Hackett happy at Michigan pick

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Jim Hackett had a lot of footsteps to follow, but he followed his conscience instead.

And despite spending four years on the University of Michigan football team, mostly as a benchwarmer, the senior center from London, Ohio is happy with the choice he made.

"It's just been a good experience. I have no qualms about making the choice," Hackett said of his decision to play for the Wolverines instead of the Buckeyes of Ohio State.

Jim's father, Dr. William C. Hackett, was a guard at Ohio State who became the captain and an All-American in 1944. That's a tough act to follow.

Jim's brother, Bill, was a member of the Buckeye squad that beat Southern California 27-16 in the 1969 Rose Bowl game. Bill was a second string linebacker and Jim went to Pasadena to watch him play.

That's where Jim is now, practicing with his Michigan teammates for the Jan. 1 Rose Bowl encounter with Southern Cal.

"No, I'm not sorry I chose Michigan," Hackett said. ". . . this year I've played more than others. It's been disappointing for me only for the sake of my brothers. I would have liked to have played more for them."

Hackett has two other brothers who played college football: Kevin at Dartmouth and Bob at Columbia. With all those relatives making headway at other schools, how did Jim settle on Michigan?

"I think Bo swung it," Hackett said, referring to the recruiting influence of Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler.

"I went at it with an open mind," he said.
